US–Iran Conflict Briefing

2026-11-03 · Evening edition · Issued 20:00 CST

Trump tells the FT the US has no immediate plan to strike Iran

- The United States has no immediate plans to strike Iran, President Donald Trump told the Financial Times in an interview on Tuesday, November 3, 2026, suggesting he was content with the stand-off with Iran, Reuters reported. — Reuters
- "We seem to be getting everything we want," Trump said in the six-minute telephone interview with the Financial Times, Reuters reported. — Reuters
- Tehran said on Monday, November 2, 2026 that contacts between Iran and the United States to end their war are continuing, after days of Iranian talks with Qatari mediators ended with altered proposals but no breakthrough, Reuters reported. — Reuters

Trump confirms the Qeshm Island strike on the record

- President Donald Trump confirmed on Fox News on Tuesday, November 3, 2026 that US forces hit a newly completed Iranian anti-aircraft facility on Qeshm Island the previous night, calling it a minor attack that was not war and claiming the United States has total control of the Strait of Hormuz, The Times reported. — The Times
- Three US officials told CNN the United States carried out limited strikes on Iran's Qeshm Island on Monday, November 2, 2026, a separate account from the Wall Street Journal's reporting. — CNN
- A US official said on Monday, November 2, 2026 that the Qeshm strikes appeared limited and did not mark a resumption of major combat operations, Reuters reported; US Central Command has not commented on the record. — Reuters

Markets

- The US 10-year Treasury yield rose to 4.95 percent on November 3, with the Wall Street Journal reporting the 10-year yield rose 0.058 percentage point to 4.951 percent as Americans voted in the midterm elections. — Wall Street Journal

Sources: Reuters · Reuters · The Times · CNN · Reuters · Wall Street Journal

Compiled from X posts and traditional news outlets. Verify before acting on any single report.